

I Feel Better

Kiwi & Ghost Culture

I feel better
now that you're coming out
I feel better
Please don't stay at home, write a letter
I want you to let me forget her

In the strobe light
I could not see her face in the corner
You could not hear my voice just to move on
I want you to let me forget her

Will she feel it
if we don't speak again
Will she feel it
I'd like to pretend that it's worth it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it?

You're a two pair
And I'm going all in with this feeling
As we dial to the wind that she's freeling
Reeling me in with three kings

You're a tonic, intoxication, quick fix
I know this is fake but I need it
I need you to help me forget her

Will she feel it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it
I'd like to pretend that it's worth it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it?

Will she feel it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it
I'd like to pretend that it's worth it
If we don't speak again

Will she feel it?

By now this one got to know
Let's pretend like there's nothing wrong
Where this goes I won't know for sure
Here she is always wanting more.

Will she feel it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it
I'd like to pretend that it's worth it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it?

Will she feel it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it
I'd like to pretend that it's worth it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it?

Will she feel it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it
I'd like to pretend that it's worth it
If we don't speak again
Will she feel it?

Lyrics Submitted by Christian Corrales

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>