

On the Other Side of the Tracks

Sarah Vaughan

On the other side of the tracks,
That is where I'm gonna be
On the other side of the great divide between fame and fortune and me
Gonna put my shadows behind me give my inhibitions the ax,
Tomorrow morning you'll find me on the other side of the tracks.

On the other side of that line, where the life is fancy and free
I'm gonna sit and fan on my fat divan while the butler butts' the tea
But for now I'm facing the fences
And I can't afford to relax
While the whole caboodle commences on the other side of the tracks.

So I'm off and runnin' over the rail,
I'm goin' gunnin' after the quail
Off and runnin' send me the mail to the great big world on the other side
The great big world on the other side
The great big world on the other side
The great big world on the other side of the tracks.
