I Need More

Iggy Pop

I walk around, and I flop around
Well I need something, that will be found
More venom's, more dynamite, more disaster
And I need more than I ever did before
But everything is going up in price
My life is going alright up till now
Even so there's something missing
More truth, more intelligence
More future, more laugh, more culture
Don't forget adrenaline, more freedom
And I need more than an ordinary grind
And the more I think the more I need
More clouds, I'll take more money
More champagne, I can't forget my brain
More floor's, more door's, more mustard
Pickle and relish
And I need more than an ordinary grind

Everybody ought to love his job
And live his life and keep his pride
Imperturbably happy with the one you love
With an exciting future on the fat of the land
And I need more than an ordinary grind
And the more I think the more I need
My life is going' alright up till now
Even so it's not enough for me
And I need more
And I need more
And I need more
Than I ever did before
I need to lead a dissipate existence
And play scratchy records and enjoy my decline
With more divorce
More distance
More future, more culture
More
