

Mirror Song

Live

I know that I should think about giving
And think about helping out
And think about, think about living
But I, I, I can't seem to rescue myself I know that I should think about giving
And think about helping out
And think about, think about living
But I, I, I can't seem to rescue myself What about my bank account and my holy desert shield
That keep me dry under the arms?
Flags and mental jewelry's all I know
And they keep me happy and warm inside So I said unto this man
"Who are you and where do you come from?"
And he proceeded to tell me
Many, many, many, many, many, many, many things, yea
But I said nothing at all For the flowers in the corner, by the room
In the window, and the sun
Said it all What about my bank account and my holy desert shield
That keep me dry under the arms?
Flags and mental jewelry's all I know
And they keep me happy and warm inside At least they said they would
Said they could
Mama said they would
Do me good I know that I should think about giving
And think about helping out
And think about, think about living
But I, I, I can't seem to rescue myself

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>