All Smiles and Mariachi

Lambchop

I was watching your mouth move in and out
In little unexpected ways
Not hearing a word that you said in over twenty minutes
On occasion I grunt and give you a knowing stareFocused on what I hope is a pivotal moment
I went to the other house
I got the key from the guard and I let myself in I knocked on the door twice and rang once
Could you watch this for me until I return?All smiles and mariachi, they're playing the dating game theme
We ordered some cheese dip, a tea, and two light beers
I feel I should be talking, rather saying something
Instead of nodding and eating most of the chipsMy confidence is returning
I'm relating and remarking in an improved fashion
So much that I decide to stop on my way home
So much that I decide to stop for donuts on the drive homeWent to the last house on the list
I was relieved to find my services no longer required
They were no longer required
I was relieved to find my services no longer required

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/