

Hard As Love (Live In Warsaw, 15th June 1994)

Marillion

Well I hear that you were looking out to hunt me down
And I guess you're used to having everything you want
But you know that love can be as hard as sticks and stones
I tell you nothing else can be as hard as love can Well I hear you got my number and you want my name
I'm a stream of noughts and crosses in your are-A-M
But you know that love can be as hard as algebra
Baby nothing else has ever been as hard as love Hard as love Well I hear that you were lookin' out to take me home
And I hear that you can handle it and you're not scared
Have you heard about the pictures on my bedroom wall?
Baby nothing else has ever been as hard as love Hard as love Well it makes you hungry and it makes you high
It makes you suffer and it makes you cry
But it's all worthwhile It makes you humble and it makes you crawl
It makes you tremble and it makes you fall
But it's all worthwhile It makes you desperate and it makes you dream
It makes you dangerous and it makes you scream
But it's all worthwhile
Just lie back and smile "We will continue to love you even though the rest of the world hates you." It makes you hungry and it makes you high
It makes you suffer and it makes you cry
It makes you panic and it makes you vain
It makes you primitive and sick inside
It makes you angry and it makes you blind
It makes you guilty and it makes you lie
Tied up and beaten
Spat out and eaten
Suicidal
Nothing's ever been as hard Well I hear that were lookin' out to change my faith
You can bash me with your book of words, hammer me down
But you know that love can be as hard as six inch nails
Baby nothing else has ever been as hard as love Hard as love

Songwriters

KELLY, MARK/ROTHERY, STEVE/TREWAVAS, PETER/MOSLEY, IAN Published by Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc., Universal Music Publishing Group
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>