

Under a Glass Moon

Dream Theater

Tell me, remind me
Chase the water racing from the sky
Always beside me
Taste the memories running from my eyes And nervous flashlights scan my dreams
Liquid shadows silence their screams
I smile at the moon, chasing water from the sky
I argue with the clouds, stealing beauty from my eyes Outside the soundness of your mind
Bathing your soul in silver tears
Beneath the blackened summer sky
Praying for time to disappear Beneath a summer sky, under glass moonlight
Night awaits the lamb's arrival
Liquid shadows crawl, silver teardrops fall
The bride subsides to her survival By your hand I've awakened
Bear this honor in my name Outside the soundness of your mind
Bathing your soul in silver tears
Beneath the blackened summer sky
Praying for time to disappear Outside the soundness of your mind
Bathing your soul in silver tears
Beneath the blackened summer sky
Praying for time to disappear
