Time to Split

Burning Heads

You've played the rebel, now it's done,
Millions of people've heard you song
But every story has an end,
See you next time you need a hand ...
See you in hell
I saw the wave pass from the beach, you did quite well surfing the hit
You made me laugh you made me rich, but now I think it's time to split
Time to splitSo you're back to zero once again, don't count on me to share your pain,
But I'm too busy my future's planned, you're not in it this time my friend,
You've played the rebel, now it's done,
Millions of people've heard you song
But your message, revolution, just don't fit with my constitutionSo you're back to zero once again, don't count on me to share your pain,
But I'm too busy my future's planned, you're not in it this time my friend.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/